National Moot Court Competition 2025

The present moot problem revolves around the legal and regulatory challenges posed by the establishment of a large-scale data processing facility by Tech Horizon Rad Solutions Ltd. (THRSL) in the ecologically sensitive region of Kriti, within the State of Garu. The case highlights key concerns related to environmental sustainability, data privacy, and corporate accountability. The NGO AKS has raised allegations regarding excessive water consumption, pollution, and carbon emissions, leading to legal proceedings before the Green Tribunal. Additionally, serious data privacy violations—including unauthorized collection, inadequate security measures, and cross-border data transfers—have resulted in a criminal investigation under the Garu Nyaya Sanhita, with the CEO of THRSL facing charges and denied bail. The case has also sparked international tensions, with the neighbouring State of Nakul and other foreign governments threatening trade sanctions over data privacy breaches and environmental harm. Given the far-reaching implications, AKS has sought the Supreme Court's intervention for expeditious adjudication. The moot problem raises critical legal questions concerning environmental law, data protection, transboundary harm, corporate liability, and the grant of bail in cases of severe regulatory violations.
